Three-Way Merger In German Zones Urged By Marshall

France Asked To Join U. S. And Britain In Economic Merger In Western Germany

FRANCE MAY SEEK RUSSIA'S APPROVAL

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Mar. 12.—France was asked today by Secretary of State George C. Marshall to join the United States and Britain in a merger of western zones in Germany if it is found impossible to get Russia to agree on economic unification of the defeated Reich.

The Marshall bid for French participation in a three-way economic merger was disclosed as the Big Four conference of foreign ministers entered its third day.

French sources revealed that Marshall's virtual appeal was first broached to French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault on Monday, at the start of the Moscow parley.

Marshall is understood to have assured Bidault that if France joins the U. S. and Britain in supporting a system of sound economy in western Europe she will be able to gain resources which the Paris government now lacks. This includes coal. Bidault was said to have made no promises, in accordance with his own policy of trying to avoid committing himself to either one of what he regards as two opposing blocs—the West and the East.

Needs Soviet Approval

It is understood, however, that France would not hesitate to join in any zonal merger of this kind if such action by France is acceptable to Russia. But France feels that to do so over Soviet objections would serve only to harden the division between the East and West in Europe.

Meanwhile, the Moscow press this morning failed to mention Marshall's statement in conference yesterday warning that it is essential for the allies to remain united if Germany is to be kept disarmed. In (Continued on Page Two)

PA NEW OBSERVES

One Park avenue resident, whose reputation cannot be questioned, is authority for the statement that Spring is just around the corner. A robin greeted him early Tuesday morning on his awakening.

Once more the employees of the State Highway department are anxiously looking forward to their spring work when they can get the many roads of the complicated in good shape for the anticipated heavy summer travel. The first load of surface treating stone has arrived for use on the secondary or Pinchot roads of the district. Cinders are still being stored for use if any freak storms loom up in the future.

According to a news item from Cleveland, O., winter is at an end. Here's the explanation: Weatherman C. G. Andrus jotted down the figure 92 on Monday and proclaimed winter at an end—unofficially. It's a new fangled method of computing the seasons, Andrus explained, and assumed there are only 92 cold days in the year. Monday was the 92nd day, he said.

Daily Weather Report

United States weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 a. m. today follow:

Maximum temperature, 45.
Minimum temperature, 18.
Precipitation, heavy frost.
River stage, 5.9 feet.

Statistics for the same date a year ago follow:
Maximum temperature, 43.
Minimum temperature, 25.
No precipitation.

Sign Of Spring

No robins yet—so a Central Park pigeon is substituted to call attention to the fact that "Keep Off" signs are being brushed up by park attendants, now that springlike weather is bringing out crowds in New York. It won't be long now. (International)

Beach Illegal Immigrant Ship During Attack

Daring Assault On British Camp In Jerusalem Aids Beaching Effort

JERUSALEM, March 12.—(INS)—All Jewish areas in Jerusalem were placed under a dusk-to-dawn curfew today after a destructive assault by the underground on a military camp and the beaching of an illegal immigrant ship which tried to run the British naval blockade.

A flying squad of underground raiders caused widespread damage when they placed explosives under barracks of the British military camp in northwest Jerusalem.

The daring assault was carried out before dawn behind the fire of mortars and automatic weapons.

Shortly after details of the raid were assembled word was received that the 400-ton illegal immigrant ship Susannah had been run ashore with several hundred refugees south of Tel Aviv.

First accounts reporting the beaching of the ship near Isjud, 20 miles south of Tel Aviv, said that possibly as many as 200 refugees had disappeared inland.

British troops immediately surrounded the area. (Continued on Page Two)

Findlay, Ohio, Has $200,000 Fire Loss

General Alarm Turned In For Big Blaze In Business Block

(BULLETIN)
FINDLAY, O., March 12.—(INS)—A general alarm fire destroyed half a Findlay business block today before it was brought under control.

A shifting wind had threatened to spread the fire through the entire block but Findlay fire-fighters, aided by a company from nearby Fostoria, contained the blaze after it had gotten out of control a second time.

Unofficial estimates placed damage at more than two hundred thousand dollars.

The fire was discovered shortly after four this morning by Woodrow Ziegler and Ted Longworth, Findlay policemen. Their office was behind Murs drug store where the blaze started.

The policemen said the back of the drug store was a mass of flames when they first saw it.

Award Contract For Wilmington Road Project

Duntile Company Receives State Contract For Big Highway Improvement

PART OF HIGHWAY TAKES NEW COURSE

New Castle Duntile Co., Moravia street, has been officially awarded the contract for reconstruction and partial relocation of 3.65 miles of Route 18, better known as the New Castle-New Wilmington road. State Highway Department officials at Harrisburg announced today that the company's bid for the work of $478,733.91, had been accepted.

The work, which will begin as soon as weather conditions permit will be started at the end of the present three lane highway near Walmo and will continue on until the new West Middlesex-Sharon road is reached.

Partly New Route

According to officials of the Duntile Company, the new road will be a three lane highway from Walmo to a point near Castleview cemetery at the bottom of the hill where it will branch into a four lane road. The three lane highway will be resumed at the top of the hill. The road will follow the bed of the old construction to the curve near the New Castle Field Club, where it will take a new course, eliminating the dangerous curve altogether and will reconnect with the old highway road again a mile distant, then continuing to the intersection of the Sharon-West Middlesex road, it is learned.

First Concrete Road

Old timers will remember that the present New Castle-New Wilmington road is the first of its kind in the county and the work will be an added improvement to both. Ne (Continued on Page Two)

Rescuers Seek To Reach Man Buried Alive

(BULLETIN)
CINCINNATI, O., March 12.—(INS)—Rescue workers, who already have extricated one man alive, dug today in the ruins of a collapsed six-story Cincinnati building for another man still buried alive.

Still in the wreckage and heard shouting "Get me out of here," is Wallie Peskin, 45-year-old storekeeper for the Bar Supply company which occupied the building.

Firemen, who have been tunneling through the mass of debris, extricated 18-year-old Delmar Rudd this morning some 24 hours after the flood-ravaged building foundation gave way.

A few hours later the body of Albert Rudd, 45-year-old father of Delmar, was taken from the debris.

Still unheard from in the wreckage is Fred Elsaesser, 76-year-old building porter. He was believed in the building basement at the time of the collapse. Firemen held little hope of finding Elsaesser alive.

Twins Weigh Over 17 Pounds At Birth

PITTSBURGH, March 12.—(INS)—St. Joseph's hospital in Pittsburgh today claimed a new record with the birth of twin boys weighing a combined total of 17½ pounds.

One "weighed in" at nine pounds, one and one-half ounces; the other eight pounds six and one-half ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Driscoll, Jr., said they were "surprised" they were expecting only one "little bundle."

Find Man Who Got First Marriage License Here Is Living In Kansas

Considerable local interest was evinced in the recent article in The News carrying the account of the 50,000th marriage license issued to Miss Erma Jean Allen and Homer Lewis.

But there is one old gentleman in Berrinton, Kan., to whom the article has more than ordinary interest. He is Edward West Hayes, the groom in the first marriage license issued in this county on October 5, 1885.

On that day he and Miss Elsie Jean Allen, nee of Allegheny, Pa., and she of Wampum, applied for the first license and it was issued by Clerk of Orphans' Court D. J. Campbell.

Mr. Hayes is still living, now 87 years of age, residing in Berrinton, Kan. His wife died in 1921. In a letter to John A. Edgar, prothonotary and clerk of courts, Josephine Hartzell of Ellwood City, a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, tells of the pride of the family in the fact that "Aunt Elsie" was the first young lady to get a license here.

At that time Miss Allen lived in Wampum, her father being a builder, and the family moved from time to time. Mr. Hayes was a resident of Allegheny county and took his bride to live in Millvale, Pa., where they resided until 1912.

But to the old gentleman of 87 living in Kansas the article in The News must have brought back a flood of memories of that day in 1885 when he brought the young lady of his choice to the court house and was issued license No. 1. That was one license which lasted "until death do us part".

Congressman Kearns Reports Phone Threat

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(INS)—Rep. Kearns (R) Pa., said today that he had been warned by a mysterious telephone call to change his "views about labor" after he dined with George P. McNear, Jr., murdered railroad president, about two weeks ago.

Kearns made the disclosure at a meeting of the House Labor committee of which he is a member. His statement immediately brought demands from members for a FBI investigation of what they termed a "threat".

Kearns said he received the mysterious telephone call at his hotel in Washington last night.

He said the anonymous caller told him that he had observed

Kearns and Mrs. Kearns having dinner with McNear at the Wardman Park hotel shortly after the railroad president testified before the labor committee.

Better Change Ideas

This caller said that I'd been seen having dinner with McNear and I'd better change my ideas toward labor.

Rep. Owens (R) Ill., declared that the committee should investigate the matter "If the death of Mr. McNear can be traced to labor or if someone is trying to put labor on the spot, so to speak."

Most Of World Seeks To Get Yankee Dollars

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12.—A survey of international developments indicated today that most of the world is working to get its hands on the Yankee dollar.

Government economic expert's revealed that they were greatly interested in the efforts of foreign governments—as well as much of their citizenry — to replace local currencies with that of the United States.

The net result was said to be that "dollar diplomacy", once one of the chief accusations against United States foreign policy has now become an international practice.

Replacing British Pound
In brief, the experts say the dollar is rapidly replacing the British pound and the Dutch guilder as the most reliable currency in the world.

As a result, there has been a scramble to gain possession of the dollar. This includes not only the greenbacks tossed across the trade counters of the United States, but letters of credit, bonds, stocks and other instruments which give the bearer the right to demand dollars.

This fact was believed to play a substantial part in United States foreign policy.

It was influential as a bargaining point in the three billion 300 million loan to Britain. It is important in dealings with Latin America, where Britain and Russia have hastened to conclude trade agreements but where the dollar is the most acceptable currency.

Other symptoms of the growing importance attached to the dollar have developed in other parts of the world.

In China steps have been taken to eliminate the dollar from the black market. In almost every in-

Senate Battle Over Lillenthal About To Open

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(INS)—President Truman today maintained a "hands off" policy in the senate battle over the appointment of David E. Lillenthal as the nation's atomic commission chairman.

The senate was expected to make a start today or in its evening session tonight on the showdown battle on the floor, which is expected to be long and strenuous.

President Aloof

As the fight headed into floor action, an informed senate source said that the president has made no moves toward getting the Lillenthal back into line.

The administration leaders remained calmly confident that—as President Truman publicly predicted—Lillenthal will be confirmed.

Sen. Hickenlooper (R) Iowa, was ready to bring up the atomic commission appointments as soon as the senate disposes of its pending two-term presidential tenure legislation.

Indications were that the congressional atomic committee chairman will touch off the battle by an all out endorsement of the five commission members and their general manager, Carroll L. Wilson.

Sen. Vandenberg (R), Michigan, atomic senator and chairman of the powerful foreign relations committee, was expected to take the floor in behalf of Lillenthal early in the debate.

The action of the premier was forced by the decision of four communist ministers in the government to quit.

The communists were understood to have submitted their resignations because of their opposition to a government move in fixing coal and steel prices.

The Hyssmans government goes out after nearly four months of cabinet crises.

Britain To Seek Pacific 'Open Door'

Drastic Change In U.S. Policy Is Seen In Request

President Sends Message To Congress Asking For Funds To Aid Democracies

FEARS WORLD PEACE MAY BE IN DANGER

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12.—President Truman asked congress today to set up a 400 million dollar U. S. road block in Greece and Turkey against the spread of Communism now threatening the west as well as the east.

The chief executive in an historic address to a joint session of congress declared that the "very existence of the Greek state" is imperiled by Communist-led armed terrorists.

He said that the United Nations and its related organizations "are not in a position to extend help of the kind that is required."

Asks Policy Change

Mr. Truman, in asking a drastic change in traditional American foreign policy, strongly indicated that financial aid may be only the first step towards a U. S. fight to protect democracies from the onslaught of Communism. He said:

"I believe that it must be the policy of the United States to support free people who are resisting attempted subjugation by armed minorities or by outside pressure."

"I believe that our help should be primarily through economic and financial aid which is essential to economic stability and orderly political processes."

In addition to funds the president asked congress to authorize the detail of American civilian and military personnel to Greece and Turkey.

He said that such personnel in addition to aiding tasks of reconstruction would supervise the use of American financial and material help.

Assistance Imperative

The president declared that assistance is "imperative if Greece is to survive as a free nation."

He said the future of Turkey as (Continued on Page Twelve)

Truman To Take Few Days' Rest At Key West, Fla.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(INS)—The White House announced this morning that President Truman would leave immediately after his 20-minute message to congress for a few days rest at Key West, Fla.

The president was to go directly from the house chamber to the Washington airport to take off at 2 p. m. for the naval submarine base at the southernmost tip of Florida.

The White House announced, at the same time, definite cancellation of the president's projected trip to the Caribbean which was to have included visits at San Juan, Puerto Rico, at St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, and the witnessing of maneuvers of the Atlantic fleet in the Caribbean.

Russia Facing Query On Fate Of Nazi Fleet

MOSCOW, Mar. 12.—(INS)—The Big Four council of foreign ministers entered its third session today with Britain prepared to ask what Soviet Russia has done to decommission large segments of the Nazi high seas fleet.

In direct answer to Russia's contention that the western Allies have failed in their demilitarization of Germany, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin went to the conference table with this thought in mind:

"What has Russia done with considerable units of the German fleet, including some capital ships such as an aircraft carrier and a pocket battleship?"

It was learned that Bevin also might ask formally for information regarding the number of German war prisoners held in Soviet Russia.

THREE-WAY MERGER IN GERMAN ZONES URGED BY MARSHALL

this statement Marshall expressed hope there would be no dissension among the delegates.

Doubt Omission Accidental

American sources doubted that this omission was accidental since with one other exception the Russian press carried a full report of the proceedings.

The other exception was the position taken by Bidault on China.

The Communist newspaper Pravda gave the impression that Bidault adopted a neutral attitude when the U. S. and Britain objected to inclusion of China's internal situation on the conference agenda.

Pravda implied that he did this on grounds that France was not a party to the three-power declaration on China made in Moscow in 1945.

The newspapers did not mention, however, his statement that he did not think China could be discussed in the absence of a Chinese representative.

The deputies handling the separate draft treaties with Germany and Austria both met this morning, as did the Austrian economic committee.

The Big Four principals were to resume discussion of the future of Germany after they barred the placing of the China question on the agenda.

GREEK ISSUE BECOMES POLITICAL PEARL HARBOR

WILL U. S. be called upon to support other British zones of influence to keep Russia from stepping in?

MANY OBSERVERS are looking on the British plea for U. S. economic aid in Greece as a political bomb, the results of which can affect the world position of the United States as did the war initiated by the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. The request from Britain's parliament for U. S. congressional approval of American financial aid is looked upon as a lack of English pounds to keep Greece outside the Russian "iron curtain," and U. S. diplomats are wondering if the same lack of funds will also find them supporting alone the British-American zone in Germany and adopting an orphaned Palestine to prevent the areas from encirclement by the Soviet orbit.

Deaths Of The Day

Mrs. Dennis Nosik
Mrs. Anna Nosik, aged 66 years, wife of Dennis Nosik of East Poland avenue, Bessemer, died Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of her sons, John and Michael Nosik, Pulaski R. D. 1. Death was the result of pneumonia following an operation performed two weeks ago.

Mrs. Nosik, daughter of the late Foma and Anna Kowalschik, was born August 6, 1880, in Russia, and resided for 36 years in Bessemer. She was a member of the Holy Trinity Russian Orthodox church, New Castle.

Survivors in addition to her husband include six children, Mrs. Olga Kachmer and Wasi Nosik, both of Bessemer; Mrs. Josephine Skuta, Mrs. Vera Brian, John and Michael Nosik, all of Pulaski R. D. 1; one brother, Paul Kowalschik, Petersburg, O. R. D. 1, and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday morning at 10 o'clock from the Holy Trinity Russian Orthodox church, New Castle. Interment will take place in Greenwood cemetery, New Castle.

The body has been removed to the Cunningham funeral home, Bessemer, where friends are being received today at any time. On Thursday morning at 10 o'clock the remains will be returned to the home of her sons, John and Michael Nosik, Pulaski R. D. 1, where friends may call at any time until Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

Shirley Ann Sowinski
Infant Shirley Ann Sowinski, two day infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Sowinski, 1101 South Jefferson street, died in the New Castle hospital, Tuesday morning. She was born March 9, 1947. In addition to her parents, she leaves her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tomaszewski, this city; Mr. and Mrs. Ida Noweto of Belgium.

Burial took place this morning at 10 o'clock, in J. R. Noga funeral home, Rev. Fr. V. V. Stancielewski in charge. Interment was in SS. Philip and James' cemetery.

What To Do For That Sluggish, Down-and-Out Feeling

Remember the time when you could eat like a horse, bubbled-over with energy, felt happy as a lark? Was it not because you liked to eat—didn't know what indigestion was, felt strong as an ox? As age advances the "old stomach" and the ever-changing blood need help. Now you may again release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh, fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic Helps Build Sturdy Health.

known, Mr. Bergland was a member of Highland U. P. church, where he was very active as well as in the Men's Bible class.

Surviving is his wife, Mrs. Anna M. Bergland, and children: Mrs. Horace Shotts, Youngstown, O.; Mrs. Alfred Owens, Mrs. Robert Wilson, this city; Arthur N. and Barbara, at home; four grandchildren: Sandra, Sonia, Seldra Shotts, and Robert Owens. He leaves a brother, Gus Skoog, of Cleveland, O.; two sisters and a brother in Sweden.

Funeral services will be Friday at 2 p. m., in the Joseph B. Leyde mortuary, Highland at Winter, Dr. D. L. Ferguson in charge.

The family will receive friends this evening 7 to 9 o'clock, and Thursday, 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 o'clock, at the funeral home.

Mrs. Roeder Funeral Time
Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Viola Roeder, wife of Charles J. Roeder, R. D. 3, Pulaski road, will be held Thursday, at 2:30 p. m. in the Campbell's North Hill funeral home, with Rev. John E. Kiffer, Free Methodist church of Highland Heights in charge.

Interment will be in Oak Park cemetery.

Mrs. Roeder was born in Cleveland, O., September 6, 1902, daughter of Burton K. and Anna Wilson Hoyer. She lived on the Pulaski road since 1925, and last April celebrated her 25th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Roeder attended the Central Presbyterian church; was a member of the Blue Triangle of Y. W. C. A., and the Women of the Moose.

Her husband, Charles J. Roeder, survives.

preceding her in death was he, father, Burton K. Hoyer, who died September 5, 1945.

The body is at the Campbell funeral home, Moody at Delaware, where friends may call 7 to 9 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Baker Funeral.
Funeral services for Mrs. Jennie McConahy Baker were held Tuesday at 2 p. m., in the Leyde mortuary, Rev. J. C. Chilton and Rev. H. G. Snodgrass in charge.

Palbearers were: Robert Baker, Russell Graham, Thomas Maret, Arnold McConnell, Norman McConahy, and George McConahy.

Interment was in the Plain Grove U. P. cemetery, Rev. M. G. Munn assisting at the grave.

stance the dollar can command a greater exchange value on a free basis than on the official exchange market.

More recently, when the Bulgarian government sought to replace its currency with a new issue in order to halt inflation, there was a stampede to the American embassy. Local citizens sought to exchange the then existing leva for the dollar.

In Bulgaria's case it was explained that the dollar's value had been somewhat enhanced by the dealings of U. S. officials on the Sofia black market. Where the dollar was worth 285 leva at the official rate, it was worth 1,000 leva on the black market. Dollar holders rarely dealt on the official market.

Moscow Seeking Dollars?
The result of the Bulgarian move was said to be likely to increase the cost of living of U. S. officials in Bulgaria by four or five times.

Since Bulgaria is under Soviet domination, there is also some suspicion that Moscow is anxious to obtain American dollars to replace rubles in international trade.

It was noted that, when the Russians went into Hungary, large amounts of war booty was sold for American dollars. The total obtained by Russia through this means was said to be sixteen million dollars.

Since the Russians involved in the transaction could not carry the money home, it was assumed that Moscow ultimately received these funds.

More recently, at the Leipzig fair, the Russians took over the only good restaurant in the city. Reports said that they would accept only American dollars in payment. Even occupation script was barred.

This was taken to emphasize Russian interest in getting U. S. hands on the dollar, since it has very few ways through trade to do so.

GRADUATED CUT ON INCOME TAX NOW PREDICTED

be the first witness, will be on his bill. This measure provides a 20 per cent cut applicable to everyone earning up to $302,000 a year, with a 10 per cent reduction on higher incomes.

Proposed Cuts
Allen has proposed a graduated tax cut under which there would be a 20 per cent reduction in taxes on incomes up to $2,500 a year; 17 per cent on $2,500 to $5,000; 15 per cent on $5,000 to $10,000; and 10 per cent on all incomes over $10,000.

Meanwhile, Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif., a committee member, revealed that he planned to introduce a bill calling for a flat 45 per cent tax cut, accompanied by a three per cent manufacturers' excise tax which would be borne by the consumers.

Gearhart estimated that the 45 per cent cut would cost the Treasury one billion dollars, but said this would be equally matched by a comparable increase in revenue from the new tax.

May Be Surplus
Washington, Mar. 12.—Congressional leaders pressing for a 20 per cent tax cut and a deep budget slash were cheered today by information that the Treasury may reach July 1 with an unexpected one billion dollar surplus.

Sen. George (D) Ga., ranking minority member on fiscal affairs and an opponent of immediate tax reductions, confirmed reports that Treasury receipts now indicate a surplus instead of one billion 900 million dollar deficit.

GOP leaders deep in the problem of compromising House and Senate differences on cutting President Truman's budget welcomed indications of the "windfall."

COLLEGE CLUB TALK ON "CONSERVATION"

To use wisely what natural resources was the opening thought expressed by Nicholas Castillo of the State Game commission, in an address on "Conservation" before the College club at the club's March meeting in the coral room of The Castleton Tuesday evening.

Mr. Castillo's talk was an intensely interesting one in which he pointed out a number of little-realized facts concerning the lack of foresight with which we are squandering our forests and destroying our wild life.

For instance, when Columbus discovered this country there were 822,000,000 acres of woodland here. Now trees are being cut down in the great forests of the northwest five times faster than they are being replaced, he said.

In our own state in Daniel Boone time, that famous woodsman made a trip from Reading to Fort Duquesne and for six weeks was continuously in the forest. There are still, he said, 126 species of trees native to Pennsylvania, more than in any other one state. But just within the past few years, 20 species of wild life have been wiped out.

He concluded his talk with a plea for a program of conservation education in the early school grades.

Mr. Castillo was introduced by Miss Reba Sines, of the hostess committee.

During business, with Mrs. William J. Caldwell presiding, three new members were elected into the club, Miss Mildred Burleson, Miss Gertrude Graham, and Mrs. Richard McKee.

Hostesses were Mrs. Harlow Clarke, Mrs. H. K. Bell, Mrs. E. J. Connerly, Mrs. Lester Johns, Miss Ruth Lewis, Mrs. Norman Nelson, Miss Reba Sines, Miss Charlotte Taylor, Mrs. Arthur Walker, Miss Helen Westlake and Mrs. Daniel Williams.

Next meeting will be April 8 in The Castleton on "Poetry and Music" with Miss Frances Haydon as the chairman.

WEINGARTNER CLASS DINNER AT CHURCH

Members of the Weingartner class gathered Tuesday evening for a dinner in Epworth Methodist church.

Dinner was served at attractively arranged tables, centered with bouquets of daffodils, flanked by green and white tapers, with a miniature shamrock marking each place.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Jones composed the host committee for the evening.

A similar event will take place Tuesday evening, April 8, at the church.

CHURCH WEDDING

Cibolium ferns above an altar embankment of palms and flanked on either side by vases of white gladiolas and snapdragons and branched candelabra formed the setting Tuesday evening in Highland U. P. church for the candlelight wedding of Miss Erma Jean Allen, daughter of Mrs. Lee E. Allen, 509 Wildwood avenue, and the late Mr. Allen, and Gomer Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Griffith J. Lewis of 1024 East Washington street.

Solemnized on the thirty-third wedding anniversary of the groom's parents, Dr. D. L. Ferguson officiated at the double ring ceremony, assisted by Rev. Thomas J. Jones, pastor of the First Congregational church. A large assemblage of friends and relatives filled the church auditorium.

Given in marriage by her cousin, Arthur W. Meek, the bride wore a gown of ivory tulle and net fastened with a ruffle of lace, fastened down the back of the bodice with a row of tiny covered buttons, and the full skirt ended in a train. Her fingertip veil fell from a beaded coronet headpiece and she carried a white Bible marked with a white orchid and streamers. In her shoe was a lucky sixpence and the cameo necklace she wore was a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Walter Grannis as her sister's matron of honor wore a gown of deep blue marquisette with a matching ruffled net halo headpiece and carried a colonial bouquet of carnations, sweet peas, roses and yellow acacia. Bridesmaids, the Misses Betty Jane Cope and June Gill, were gowned alike in yellow marquisette with matching ruffled headpieces and carried colonial bouquets of mixed flowers. Miss Caroline Grannis, as junior bridesmaid, wore a toe-length gown of the same blue as the matron of honor and wore clusters of pink flowers in her hair.

John Mortimer served the groom as best man and ushers were Walter Grannis, Edward Pander, Thomas Martino of Pittsburgh and Gulliver Cockerell of Youngstown.

Preceding the ceremony David Lewis, soloist, sang "Because," "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly." As guests assembled Mrs. Jay L. Reed played a half hour of organ music.

Following the ceremony, the bride and groom received guests at the rear of the church and later greeted guests and were served refreshments at a reception in the church Sunday school room. Bows of white snapdragons and white tapers in crystal holders trimmed with touches of rose pink sweet peas decorated the bride's table where a four-tiered wedding cake was cut by the bride and groom.

Aides were Mrs. Kenneth Marshall of Johnstown, nee Marian Duff, Mrs. Thomas Martino of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Frank L. Burton, Mrs. Arthur W. Meek, Miss Mary Grace of Sharon, Mrs. Floyd Conners, Mrs. William Grannis, Mrs. Fred Clark, Miss Jane Walls and Miss Alice Reynolds.

The newlyweds left by motor on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination and on their return will take up residence in an apartment at 1205 East Washington street.

Mrs. Lewis was previously employed at the Johnson Bronze company. Mr. Lewis is associated in business with his father.

BESSEMER WOMAN'S CLUB GUEST NIGHT

At Bessemer Woman's club annual guest night program in Bessemer Presbyterian church Tuesday evening, an assemblage of about 150 heard a half-hour organ recital by Robert Rudesill, of this city, followed by a group of vocal selections sung by a chorus of 12 girls under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Robinson.

An additional musical feature on the program that followed the club's election meeting was accordion solos and a duet played by two youngsters, Miss Shirley Puz and Thomas Ketchel.

Presented by a cast of members of the club was a one-act play, "Our Aunt from California," under the direction of Mrs. J. W. Brewster. Those who took part were Miss Florence Ehle, Mrs. Frank Sowash, Mrs. John M. Pife, Mrs. Edward Bradley, Mrs. D. J. Gibson, Mrs. J. H. Martin and Mrs. Stephen Klammer.

Miss Frances Fullerton was program chairman.

Election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Ralph Engle; first vice president, Mrs. Joseph Martin; second vice president, Mrs. Harry Hinson; third vice president, Mrs. Spencer Carr; recording secretary, Mrs. Elmer Shaffer; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Reynold Klimkinen; treasurer, Mrs. Harry Reed.

Following the program from a table prettily decorated in green and white, tea was served in the church dining room, with Mrs. Wilbur P. Miller and Mrs. R. E. Murland presiding at the tea table.

Mrs. Wayne Davis was chairman of the social committee in charge.

Next meeting will be Tuesday, April 15, in the Bessemer Presbyterian church.

A. U. R. AUXILIARY INSTALLS AT DINNER

St. Patrick's decorations and a color scheme of green and white predominated when the A. U. R. auxiliary of Central Presbyterian church enjoyed its annual dinner party Tuesday evening in the church dining room, served by the Central Circle. Mrs. Alfred T. Sadler, Mrs. Clifford M. Propst and Mrs. Lester G. Miller were joint hostesses for the evening.

At 8 o'clock the meeting opened in the church parlor which was attractively decorated in green and white with bowls of snapdragons for decoration. Mrs. Leon Williams, leader of the devotional period, presented Miss Maude Mitchell and Mrs. Lester Miller, who emphasized particularly the Christian task of reconciliation.

Mrs. John P. Walters, secretary of Social Education in Action, ably presented the work of her office in all its phases.

Following the regular meeting Mrs. R. M. Patterson conducted a most impressive candlelight installation ceremony when Mrs. Clifford M. Propst, the retiring president, relinquished her candle to the incoming president, Mrs. Roland Peden. All officers and members formed a complete circle of candlelight, followed by the benediction.

Remainder of the evening was spent in the perusal of 26 scrap books prepared for children in Presbyterian nursery schools and hospitals.

VON BORA SOCIETY GATHERS TUESDAY

Members of the Catherine Von Bora Missionary society of St. John's Lutheran church were entertained in the home of Mrs. Hilda Bame, of Oak street, Tuesday evening, when Mrs. Edith Wadlinger was co-hostess.

Using "The Message At Work In India" as her theme, Miss Mildred Kelley was leader for the session. Later a tempting lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Bame and Mrs. Wadlinger.

Miss Barbara Schulz will receive the group in her home on Butler avenue Tuesday evening, April 8, when Miss Evelyn Seamons will entertain jointly.

ST. MARY'S LADIES PLANNING PARTY

An Easter party scheduled on April 8, after the Lenten season was decided to be held by members of the St. Mary's Ladies, Tuesday evening.

The regular meeting was conducted in the meeting rooms of St. Mary's church.

President, Mrs. Mary Maher was in charge, and she will also arrange the plans for the Easter get-together. Committees will be announced.

April 15, is the next regular meeting.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Budget Ceiling
Is Largely Fictitious

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Twenty members of Congress are having a pillow fight with imaginary pillows. The contest between 10 members of the House and 10 senators over whether the budget will be cut by $6,000,000,000 or by $4,500,000,000 is just about as real as that.

The figure that finally comes out of this pillow fight will be wholly arbitrary, having nothing to do with the obligations both at home and abroad that this nation must assume. It's astrology. It's numerology. It's fortune-telling with a little assistance from the ouija board.

The District of Columbia is one of the few jurisdictions in the country that licenses fortune-tellers. The fee is $250, and 37 fortune-tellers hold licenses. In announcing that he would not vote on the budget ceiling when it was being debated on the floor of the Senate, Sen. Brien McMahon of Connecticut told his colleagues that they ought to have the decency to take out a license before they voted.

Made To Look Foolish
Even while the business was being discussed publicly on the floor, the whole process was made to look foolish. Chairman Arthur Capper of the Senate agriculture committee brought in a bill with the unanimous approval of his committee providing for U. S. funds to fight the epidemic of hoof-and-mouth disease in Mexico.

Capper said it was imperative the bill be passed at once by unanimous consent. No one could very well dispute the need for such action. The plague in Mexico will certainly spread to this country unless it is stopped where it is.

In this respect it's like the political-military plagues that beset certain areas. If they aren't checked they will certainly grow and spread. You can measure, however, tangibly and concretely, the deadly effect of something like the hoof-and-mouth disease.

But no one in Congress has any idea how much the attack on Mexico's hoof-and-mouth disease will cost. The bill rushed through to available passage—public law No. 8—merely says that funds shall be made available to do the job. One witness estimated there were a million head of cattle in the infected area in Mexico and the cost of eradicating them would be between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000.

That is just one item above and beyond the estimates of the experts who drew up President Truman's $37,500,000 budget. Until Congress gets down to cases and decides how extensive our obligations will be in the coming year, the argument over cutting the budget is like the medieval argument about how many angels can stand on a needle point.

Take another and more formidable example. Thus far this session 150 bills have been put in by Republicans and Democrats, covering veterans. Almost without exception they provide for spending money above and beyond the estimates in the budget.

No one either in the Veterans Administration or in the veterans' committee of the House has had time and the patience to find out what it might cost the government if even half these bills become law. But it would undoubtedly run into hundreds of millions of dollars.

Some Will Become Law
Some of these bills will become law. Certain measures may be essential to correct injustices. The pressure of the professional veterans' lobbies is powerful and unceasing.

An arbitrary budget ceiling adopted by Congress at this time is bound to be punctured. It will be purely and simply a political ceiling.

Those engaged in this sham battle are counting on the fact that people have short memories. At the next session of Congress the Department of Agriculture will ask for a deficit appropriation to cover the cost of eradicating the hoof-and-mouth disease in Mexico. It's a fairly safe bet that no one will remember that this little item was ignored when Congress was contending angrily over a purely fictitious budget ceiling.

You might be safe in betting that few people would ordinarily remember there ever was such a ceiling. But they will be reminded. The victors in this battle of the windmills can be counted on to make political capital out of a wholly empty victory.

From the demands growing out of the crisis over Greece, you get some idea of how empty that victory is likely to be. The request for money to sustain Greece is not in the President's budget because no one short of a crystal-gazer could have foreseen that the need would become so desperately urgent when it did.

The longer the contest goes on over a fictitious budget ceiling, the more foolish it appears, which may be one reason the Democrats are sitting back and looking rather self-satisfied these days.

State Police Say:—
In the early morning and late afternoon hours when a driver is moving in an easterly or westerly direction, the sun may produce a glare similar to that of head-lights. Furthermore, the long shadows produced at these times tend to conceal objects, and alternating patches of light and shade distort even the best judgment of distances. Under such conditions, sun visors may be used to advantage. The best compensation for difficulty such as these is, however, reduced speed.

Medical science can do almost anything now except cure a common cold or take the creaks out of an aged skeletal chassis.—Clarion

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

"Fussy Undies Likely For British Women" is the headline of a London dispatch.

The women of England are putting up with a lot of inconveniences these days, without grumbling or complaining.

Food is short, there is little heat, it is almost impossible to buy anything. They wear it bravely, even if they don't grin about it.

But undies—that is a different story. Many complaints have come to the London Board of Trade from housewives and others who are tired of wearing what is politely called "accessories" (at least I think so) without any embellishments at all.

So that disgruntled board is planning to allow the women of England, once more "to have ribbons, bows and butterflies on their nightgowns, slips and panties," and to rescind the order issued in 1942 cutting out all frills and furbelows and restricting the colors to fawn, beige and navy.

I can well understand the women's rebellion. Out in the Middle West during the war the women, not being able to buy clothing, had to use flour sacks for dress material.

So what did the mills do? They stenciled pretty designs on the sacks—and everybody was happy.

And that desire for brightness and color does not apply only to women. Men, too, are tired of the eternal sameness and severity in their clothes. Look at men's hats. The same old fedoras in brown and gray and black.

So now, even now and then, you see a dashing young man, or adoring old young man with a little red and yellow feather stuck in the band—just for the devilment of it.

From Me To You

By MESEEAALL

In spite of the cool winds... the frequent snows... we are sure that Spring is just around the corner. It's quick time for many farmers... brooder houses are going full blast to protect the little fowls who in a few months will be responsible for the eggs that we will be using on our breakfast tables... in our baking... and in so many other forms that our kitchen crew think up. Yes, we still think that department in a home is the most important.

And it has only been a few years ago that the kitchen was the most neglected room in a home... the progress made in that department is an indication of what can be done when a problem is taken in hand by thinking people... The manufacturers of stoves, sinks, kitchen cabinets, food mixers, etc., went out in the field and questioned thousands of housewives... then back in the labs the ideas were put to a test and today we have here in the United States the most efficient kitchen tools of any nation in the world.

Not only do we have the best equipment... but we Americans eat a greater variety of food than other nations... Of course there can be exception to that statement... there are still many "little women" who rely on the can opener. Yes, there are some women who have kept house many years who have not baked one pie or cake... the simplest foods go on their table... but their families are healthy... just as healthy as the families that eat a large variety of foods... so what do we gain by variety.

That's a most question... each one can answer it to his own satisfaction... those who eat to live can do as they please... those who live to eat can call themselves gourmets. But it all comes back to the original thought... More and more modern kitchens are being built... and we are told that more tasty meals are being prepared by the women who are proud of their workshop... the kitchen.

Which all goes to show... that Spring is just around the corner... the little chicks of today will make this a brighter world in your kitchen tomorrow.

Another Crisis Forced On U. S.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12. INABILITY of the enfeebled and deeply distressed British to meet their commitments in Greece and Turkey, without themselves "going down the drain," plus the practical surety of a major disaster in which we will be heavily involved if somehow they are not met, faces us with the necessity of decisions more grave and far-reaching than any we have ever had to make in peacetime before.

EITHER we must come swiftly to the rescue with money and materials or we may witness a debacle which will end all pretense of democratic government in the Middle East—and shake democratic foundations everywhere else. The alternative to United States support is a chaos from which communism is sure to emerge in the small countries—and which easily may profoundly affect both France and England. Such seems the all but unanimous judgement of practically every informed English-speaking man here and abroad.

IN other words, while Secretary of State Marshall is in Moscow trying to negotiate what seemed the overwhelming vital German treaty, a situation has developed so serious as to make that treaty appear relatively unimportant. It is possible that the whole structure in the democratically inclined countries, upon the stability of which we had depended, will come crashing down upon our heads. The question is: are we going to sit on our hands and see that happen or are we going to do what we can to prevent it, fully knowing, as Mark Sullivan says, "if we fail to act 'the world will be laid open to Russia as an imperial power and to communism as an ideology'?"

IF eventually we, along with other countries, are to survive as free nations, we have got to act. That is the feeling of every responsible man in the administration and it is the conviction behind President Truman's attitude as expected to be revealed at the White House conference he has called of House and Senate leaders of both parties for Monday. There is, of course, an opposing side. There are plenty who say the thing to do is let Europe "steal in its own juice" and that it is impossible for us to save the situation there without dangerously straining our own economy. Others take the view that such a course would be calamitous as well as craven; that either we must assert our world leadership now or relinquish it altogether and hand back into a secondary place with an immensely strengthened Russia in first.

THAT is not a state of affairs which any clear-headed man cares to contemplate. There is every reason to believe that the President, supported by General Marshall, advocates of a quiet and affirmative action. But quiet without Congress cannot be taken without Congress, which, under existing conditions, is equivalent to saying without Senator Vandenberg. He is the key man. Unless he is completely sold on the necessity of action, wholeheartedly supporting the program of the President and the secretary of state, nothing can be done. Mr. Vandenberg is not only chairman of the Foreign Affairs committee in the Senate—he is the recognized leader of the Republicans in matters of foreign policy.

IN the past two years, his course has won him commendation in all parts of the country, regardless of politics. Without him we could not have had a bipartisan foreign policy. His contribution to national unity has been of incalculable value and, almost single-handed, he has pulled the Republican party away from its archaic isolationism. With his party in power in Congress, clearly the pending crisis cannot be met unless he, as a matter of conviction and with everything he has, takes the lead. Those who know him best believe he will do just that. To get action, the justified alarm felt in the White House, in the State Department and everywhere else where the facts are fully appreciated have got to be communicated to Congress and the country. Only two men, working together, can do that—one is the President; the other, Senator Vandenberg.

CONSIDERING the inertia, indifference and reluctance, this involves a very large job of salesmanship. It means putting us on a path from which there is no retreat. It is a path to be taken lightly or not at all. The President and Mr. Vandenberg have got to galvanize the nation into complete action.

What People Say

(By International News Service)
WASHINGTON—Herbert Hoover, former president urges relief for Austria: "The Austrian people are making a brave fight to reestablish the principles of western civilization. They should enlist our sympathy, our support and all the influence we can summon."

LAKE SUCCESS—Warren Austin, U. S. delegate to the Security Council, objects to proposed Soviet amendments to the United Nations charter: "They do not provide for an international system of control of atomic energy at all. They provide for a system which at best would give no security, and at worst would be a constant incentive to distrust and war."

NEW YORK—Lord Ivernapel, British ambassador to the United States advocates free world trade: "None of us can be self-sufficient today. Indeed, it is clear that the only self-sufficient community in this world of ours is a cemetery."

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TEACHING A CHILD TO SAVE

Our first two children during their elementary school years, had included in their allowance a definite amount for savings. Each child was required to put his savings into a metal bank which could not be opened except by a key at the regular commercial bank. Our purpose was to train these children at the time of receiving money.

The plan seemed to work very well. But when the great depression of the early thirties came, these children lost nearly all their savings. Because of like tragedies, many other parents have since then quit practicing their children in compulsory savings, nor, the country over, has the practice been widely restored even though bank deposits have since been guaranteed by the Federal government. Moreover, many child specialists have been so overwhelmed with the here-and-now or near-future motive, and paid so little attention to habit values that early education in thrift has been sorely neglected. Furthermore, "spending our way out of the depression," plus, since Pearl Harbor, casting all spending restraints aside, has made a neglect of thrift appear almost as a virtue.

Start Compulsory Saving
But wise parents of young children will still start them off and continue them at compulsory savings. Such savings should not be put in a kind of "piggy bank" from which the child can get the money when he chooses, or from which mother can get cash to fill the missionary envelope, pay the rent, or buy something from the peddler. It is helpful to the child, even as a tot, to go to the regular bank, meet the man at the window, and see his own passbook, even before he is able to read it.

The public school did much to stimulate thrift in children through the sale of war saving stamps and bonds. They might have done more had they tried harder to make it a distinction to buy stamps from money earned through effort or saved through strong self-denials from the "free portion" of the child's allowance.

Encourage Thrift
The school should aim to encourage (Continued on Page Seven)

Views Of The News

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(I. N. S. Foreign Editor)

The one clear and presumably unalterable determination of the Big Four council of foreign ministers met in Moscow is that Germany shall remain dismantled as a military fortress for at least forty years.

On this salient point all are in apparent agreement, however much they may differ on reparations, the Ruhr, denazification and the art of looting as so well and assiduously practiced since the end of the second world war.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall's reiteration of America's decision in this regard inevitably brought to a questioning mind the state of things in Germany 40 years ago, before she prepared and embarked upon two world wars of aggression.

And this mental curiosity unearthed from the history books a few interesting and possibly significant facts to emphasize how a nation, when its leadership and rank and file so wills, can bend its resources and its intellect toward perpetration of what international law has now branded as a crime against humanity.

Treaties were made and unmade and there had come upon the scene the first hints of German expansionism. Kaiser Wilhelm II had insisted upon a trade foothold in Morocco in the face of French determination to go to war if necessary to prevent it, and the German emperor had won out, forcing the resignation of delayers.

The dawn of 1907 heard the first faint thundering of a future European war ominous in the air.

Great Britain had laid down the first of the super-battleships of that time—the "Dreadnaught," and Von Tirpitz early in 1907 announced a new German naval building program.

It provided for immediate construction of six heavy cruisers and stipulated that all major German vessels in the future must be of the Dreadnaught type.

There were fears and forebodings. Britain signed treaties with Russia and France—and in the latter alliance was the fore-runner of the Anglo-American joint chiefs of staff who handled operations in the second world war, an agreement for interchangeable strategy.

The British shifted their fleet, pulling major elements out of the Pacific and the Mediterranean and placing them in the English Channel and the North Sea. And at just about that time Wilhelm went to England on a state visit, gave an interview to the London Daily Telegraph that the British people resented as intolerable meddling with British naval affairs, and th long fuse was touched off.

From then on came crisis after crisis—the Berlin-Baghdad railway affair, the troublesome and spreading Balkan wars, and finally the assassination at Sarajevo.

This all is ancient history now, of course. But to historians Kaiser Wilhelm's sedulous campaign of expansion and future aggression was evident. It is a far cry from the Germany of 1907 to the tattered hulk of 1947. It is obvious the Allies won't let her return to the muscled days of 40 years ago.

Mapping Antarctica

The unknown regions of the earth have dwindled considerably as a result of the work done by the Navy's 1947 Antarctic Expedition. Pliers and aerial photographers are credited by Admiral Byrd with exploring 845,000 square miles of land, an area one-third as large as the United States, including 300,000 square miles that had never been seen before by a human eye.

These figures may not inspire the average American to stand up and cheer. The land that has now been charted still seems unlikely to play much of a part in the life of the ordinary citizen. But they do indicate that, during the few weeks the expedition could operate, modern methods of exploration accomplished a great deal.

Admiral Byrd has listed 12 major explorations and scientific achievements to be attributed to the expedition. Among them he mentioned the reconnaissance of the Ross Sea ice pack, the discovery of new islands in the Ross Sea, and other results achieved near the base as well as the discovery of three new mountain ranges farther away.

As a result of the expedition, scientists will soon know more about this far region of the earth than they have ever known before. As for the uses of this knowledge, they may remain obscure for the present. More expeditions may be required before the explorers will learn anything of assured practical value. But it is the experience of the race that seemingly useless knowledge may come at some time, incalculable value.

The Navy Goes Ahead

So much has been made of rockets, atomic bombs, bacteriological warfare and what not that the announcement that the Navy has a powerful new fighting ship will seem a little less important than it would have a few years ago. The science of war is in a state of confusion and flux in which no one is really sure which weapons will be important in the future and which will not.

But it is important to the American public to know that the Navy has a heavy cruiser, in the newly-launched Newport News, which it believes is "unsurpassed by anything afloat" in modernity, efficiency and seaworthiness. This is not merely, or even primarily, because the Newport News is superior to World War I battleships, has three times the firepower of other eight-inch gunned ships, or other such technical details.

The fact of real significance and importance is that the Navy is going ahead to construct the best warships that can be built despite the emergence of new weapons and the confusion over the future. It would be folly to do otherwise.

It is impossible to guess what may be the decisive weapon of warfare 10 or 20 or 50 years from now. But the nation cannot afford to neglect its traditional defenses or stop trying to improve them until this question is decided.

There may be a time when war will be abolished or when sea power will be obsolete. Until either one day or the other comes, a nation which relies heavily on sea power, like the United States, must keep its fleet strong and up-to-date.

Devoted To Ideal

Few persons ever succeed so completely in devoting themselves to an ideal as did Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, pioneer suffragist and crusader for world peace, now dead at 88.

Born Carrie Lane in Ripon, Wisconsin, in 1859, Mrs. Catt plunged into the fight to eliminate discrimination against women before she was 20. At 21 she was reading law in a lawyer's office; at 22 she was principal of Mason City, Iowa, High school, and at 24 was the city's first woman superintendent of schools.

From the time she made her first suffragist speech in 1887 until the final ratification in 1920 of the 19th Amendment granting women voting privileges, she was never far from the forefront of the battle. Her self-sacrifice and devotion to the ideal of peace were similarly lasting and vital.

Mrs. Catt played a dramatic and moving role in the history of her country down to the last days of her life. She held high her ideals and the causes for which she labored tirelessly. The National League of Women Voters, now a factor in the life of the Republic, is a tribute to her courageous leadership. She will be remembered.

Crime On Increase

It is in the statistics—coldly bitter and undramatic as they are—that the significance of the multiplying murder, robbery and assault headlines is to be found. J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, now reveals that murders rose 23.3 per cent in 1946—and robbery went up 15 per cent, rape 5 per cent, aggravated assault, 12 per cent.

Only automobile thefts—somewhat inexplicably—declined an overall 4 per cent, but even so this left a situation in which 26 cars were stolen every hour, the majority by youths of 20 and under.

The job this country has before it in combatting crime is emphasized by the fact that every five minutes during 1946 there was a murder, manslaughter, rape or assault to kill. The need for an integrated program on a national scale to stop the growth and development of criminal minds in the early stages is shockingly plain.

There must be more thorough law enforcement. There must be an end to the negligence that permits adolescent prankishness and high spirits to develop into diseased criminality. There must be a revival of social and spiritual consciousness on the part of parents, schools and the community. And the time for it is now.

Taxes To Feed Teacher Salary Boost In State

Gov. Duff Says New Levies
To Provide $21,000,000
To Raise Teachers'
Pay Scale

HARRISBURG, March 12.—(INS)
—Gov. James H. Duff on Tuesday afternoon told the general assembly that new taxes would provide $21-000,000 for teachers salary increase while his budget contained an additional $27,000,000 which could be used if necessary.

The added sum, he explained, represented unallocated funds which were to be used for whatever purposes desired by legislators.

The governor's budget message made no reference to pay scales and it was emphasized that if political sub-divisions wanted to augment the state mandated salaries it would be necessary to broaden the local tax base.

He pointed out that in eight years
the Commonwealth's expenditures for education had increased from 23 per cent of the overall cost to 40 per cent in 1948.

Real Estate Burdened

The governor emphasized that he believed real estate was overburdened with taxes and indicated he favored allowing local governments to tap any tax source not levied upon by the state.

"The important thing to bear in mind is that it is necessary, on account of increased living costs, to further increase the salaries of teachers", Duff told legislators.
"Therefore you should determine how much they should be increased and in what proportion that increase should be borne by local levels of government and what proportion by the Commonwealth".

Unless the upward trend of state participation in the education program was arrested, he added, the Commonwealth ultimately would be saddled with the entire cost necessitating new state taxes.

The proposed 1947-49 budget proposed allocation of $208,000,000 for education compared with $97,000-000 expended during the 1939-41 biennium.

Hawaii Governor Asks Statehood For Territory

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(INS)
—Governor Ingram M. Stainback of Hawaii told congress Tuesday in a plea for Hawaiian statehood that the island territory is subject to taxation without representation.

Stainback appeared before the house public lands committee and listed instances in which Hawaii was discriminated against by congress.
He said:

"While congress is friendly, cordial and helpful when matters are brought to its attention, such help is the result of an appeal rather than the result of political representation".

The territorial governor asserted that 25,000 Hawaiians were drafted into the armed services during the second world war, even though they had no voice in the draft act or declaration of war.

Citizens of the islands pay federal taxes on the same basis as those persons in continental United States, he pointed out, but have no vote on the levying of taxes or the dispensing of revenues.

Legal Action In Pittsburgh Seeks To End Beer War

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 12.—(INS)—Legal action to end Pittsburgh's five-month-old beer war was taken today by three breweries who asked an injunction against the AFL Teamsters union which seeks union control of brewery workers.

Charging the Teamsters had used violence, Attorney Mead J. Mulvihill asked for an injunction which would prohibit the defendants from picking the breweries, threatening anyone in connection with the breweries or instituting a boycott of local beer distributors.

Mulvihill presented affidavits by 14 men who said they were victims of beating, threats, bombings and window smashing.

The action taken by the breweries followed within 24 hours after Teamsters officials announced a seven-state organizational campaign among brewery workers.

Public Schools First To Reach Red Cross Quota

Division Exceeds Goal By
$132 With Four Schools
Still To Report Their Totals

Teachers and employees of the public schools of New Castle today were the first group to meet their quota in the county's American Red Cross fund campaign, according to a statement by S. Glenn McCracken, chairman of the campaign.

With four of the schools yet to be heard from, the division, which is headed by co-chairmen Dr. Frank Burton and Miss Grace McCabe, exceeded their goal by $132, Mr. McCracken reported.

This contribution to the county fund was accomplished in a one-day canvass of the schools and is a feat of which the teachers and employees can be proud, giving all of us incentive to put the campaign over the top.

Chairman McCracken stated that the next report of the effort will be made Friday afternoon at 4:30 in the chapter house, North Beaver street. He urged all division chairmen to be prompt in appearing at the meeting to submit their reports for the week.

Boulder Rolls Down Mountain; Kills Two Men

SALTSBURG, Pa., Mar. 12.—(INS)—Two men were killed and four others injured Tuesday when a boulder loosened and rolled down the side of a mountain at the Pennsylvania Railroad tunnel under construction near Saltsburg.

The dead were identified as Edward Quareford, 25, of Crystal Falls, Mich., and Alfred Quinn, 45, of Tunnelton, Pa. Both men were employed on the construction job.

Raymond Taylor, of Torrrence, Pa., and Mahlon Deferno, of Salina, Pa., were taken to the hospital.

Audino, who entered naval service in January, 1946, received his recruit training at Camp Peary, Va.

understanding. Nevertheless, the pressure of events almost compels us to act. No man can reckon the cost nor be certain of the results. But it is clear the costs of inaction may be many times the cost of action. The decision Mr. Truman has to make is momentous and the responsibility very great. If, as expected, he chooses to act, Senator Vandenberg's help is indispensable. Perhaps the Senator's parting words to Secretary Marshall before he left last week indicate his feeling. He said: "I know I speak for the entire committee and for the total Congress and I doubt not for the nation when I tell you, sir, that our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, and your fellow-travelers when you depart tomorrow upon your vital mission, so fraught with destiny."

"INEXORABLE" events force high responsibilities of leadership upon America in this critical hour. In Moscow you will be at the core of things. You will speak for a great people who want nothing for themselves except the right to live honorably in a world of free men. With a humble plea to Almighty God for His blessing upon your pilgrimage, we wish you success, good luck, bon voyage and happy landing on your round trip back to home, sweet home. "Thank you," said the secretary. "I will do my best." The exchange was typical of them both. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate) age children in thrift and systematic savings as an integral part of the curriculum. There are great moral values in thrift. It requires self-denial; going without something desired right now for greater values later. This principle is basically the same as one of the principles common to all the great religions of the world.

Suppose your child ten, fourteen, or sixteen has never had an allowance and you suddenly launch him on one now. Then suppose he spends all of it on the day it is received. Obviously, he is not yet ready for a real allowance. Perhaps he had been given only enough for one of two regular essential items, like lunch and bus fare, in addition to a small amount for pocket money for one or two days only. Later you can increase the amount to cover a period of three or four days and so on. Gradually increase the number of essential items included and the time-period as he proves able to hold well to the simpler and shorter period of allowance.

My special bulletin on allowances may be had in a stamped self-addressed envelope sent me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, N. Y.

Says Governors Should Have Power To Name President

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12.—(INS)—Sen. Holland (D) Fla., said that in an age of atomic perils governors of the 48 states should have emergency power to choose a president if Washington should be blasted from the map.

Holland pointed out to the Senate Rules committee that a superbomb might do away with Washington and all the presidential eligibles in the present line of succession.

He urged attachment of a provision to any presidential succession bill authorizing election of a chief executive by the governors if other federal machinery is destroyed by atomic attack on the capital.

Sen. McMahon (D) Conn., in support of his bill calling for reassembly of the electoral college of the preceding national election to choose a president and vice president in the event both die in office, also cited atomic hazards.

Both Holland and McMahon emphasized that destruction of Washington and its population is not a wild dream but a grim possibility calling for drastic emergency powers to set up a government quickly after such a catastrophe.

nine hundred seventeen each of whom are drawing some forty-three hundred dollars a year in salaries. He emphasizes the fact that OPA activities are limited to rent and sugar—its functioning in both a matter of general criticism.

The only way to get rid of surplus employees on the federal payroll, of course, is to cut off appropriations for the payroll. If the OPA personnel is to be reduced to actual requirements, it must be reduced by taking away the money to pay the salaries. If Representative Taber and his colleagues go through with their declared purpose to whack the OPA allotment to the bone, that will be the end of the OPA army.

The Congress, unfortunately, has not yet acquired control over the executive agencies of the government. So it is possible that the removal of ten thousand employees from OPA would result, as in other instances in the past, in the mere transfer of the "displaced" ones to some other agency. In this case, the remedy will have to be the same—whacking off the payroll funds.

Seventh Ward Girl Scouts Plan St. Patrick's Party

Will Join City-Wide Girl Scout
Skating Party; Make Easter
Favors For Hospitals

Members of the Girl Scouts Troop 16, met recently in the social room of the Mahoning Methodist church.

Following the opening exercises, there was group singing, games, and reviewing scout promises and laws.

The girls took part in a number of motion songs, "The Spider Song," led by Martha Rose Runk; "Under The Spreading Chestnut Tree," by Gerry Calvert; "Down By The Old Mill Stream," Erina Perrotta.

Plans were completed for a bean luncheon on Saturday afternoon at one o'clock, in the dining room of the Mahoning church, which will take the form of a St. Patrick's party. Following the dinner, the girls will present a short playlet. The troop girls will make fifty Easter season favors for the hospitals.

This troop is looking forward to joining in the city-wide Girl Scout skating party, in the Arena, from ten to twelve p. m., March 29, supervised by the troop leaders.

Mrs. Bessie Coates Pitzer, troop leader, will join with other Girl Scout leaders of the city, when they will entertain members of the council on Friday evening, for a St. Patrick's party at Epworth Methodist church.

IMPORTANCE OF WEDDING RING

"A few months ago, I left my husband, after ten years of marriage, for another man. We have no children. We are not divorced and now my husband wants me to return to him. Although I am still in love with the other man, he drinks too much and is not the steady, working man that my husband is. We had planned to marry after I get a divorce, but I'm beginning to realize I made a mistake. Do you think I should go back to my husband, or having taken this step, stick to my guns?"

Answer: This, I should think, would seem to you like a death house review.

How could any woman after ten years of marriage to a "good, steady man" throw her security to the four winds for a fling with little prospect of anything other than disaster?

Aside from the moral angle of the situation and from your shirking your duty as a wife, your action is unpardonable. If you have a chance to return to him, do so immediately and thank God for your husband's forgiving nature. He must love you very much to take you back under the circumstances. Don't return to him, though, unless you will remain absolutely faithful. He must be an unusual man. Consider yourself fortunate. Forget the other man. Put your experience with him down as a horrible nightmare.

Very few women get a chance to reestablish themselves after such an irreparable step as you so foolishly took. If you fail to take advantage of this golden opportunity, you will probably find yourself without affection or future security. Without the bonds of matrimony and the memories of youthful romance, many men would not remain faithful and loyal to aging women.

A woman's assurance of permanent protection is her wedding ring. Without it, she is without legal claim, without pity and without respect when her man tires of her and drops her like an old shoe. 'Tis a shame, that more women are not apprised of its incomparable value before it is too late.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

Report Soviet Officials Surprised At New Maps

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12.—(INS)—Reports were bared today that some Soviet officials are "surprised and displeased" by the amount of information on Russia gathered by the United States for a new map. A semi-official publication, the Infantry Journal, brought to light this slant in the Russian iron curtain and stated:

"Sources of Russian data are secret, although some help was volunteered by Soviet cartographers. Some Russian officials are said to be surprised, and displeased, by the amount of information on their country that is now available to aviators and aviation officials the world over."

It is available via a new map of the world said to have resulted largely from army-navy photoreconnaissance flying during the war. Mapping cameras gathered data in a few hours that would have taken years to accumulate on the ground.

It was pointed out that the polar regions are included as well as all parts of Russia pertinent to air travel. The Journal said that "although compiled for strategic and tactical reasons the U. S. has made a free gift of the basic charts to all countries."

The maps are scaled at a million to one or about 16 miles to the inch; show elevations and contours and are of a standard size. Distances and heights are in feet. The service publication observed that "it hasn't quite reached the stage where you can pick one up at the corner filling station, but accurate maps of the world are available for flyers the world over."

Any airman anywhere in the world can obtain from the chart-issuing offices of any other country a regional chart similar to those issued for many years by the Civil Aeronautics Association in Washington for all parts of the United States and most U. S. territories.

Plan New Effort To Free Toll Bridges

Legislation For Acquisition Of Bridges Introduced Into Senate Tuesday

HARRISBURG, March 12.—(INS)—Legislation authorizing acquisition of ten interstate toll bridges was introduced in the senate, Tuesday.

Republican Senators M. Harvey Taylor, Dauphin, and George N. Wade, Cumberland, proposed an amendment to the constitutional limitation approved last year prohibiting use of the motor license fund for anything but highway or aeronautical purposes.

The supreme court ruled that the provisions of the limitation expressly forbade use of the fund for toll bridge acquisition.

In effect, the Wade-Taylor amendment would expressly allow the Commonwealth to press its 16-year-old battle to free toll bridges.

The sponsors backed the toll bridge acquisition bill passed in 1945. Seven million dollars set aside for the program still was available.

The department of highways has sought since 1931 to purchase and free two bridges each at Harrisburg and Bethlehem and one each at Allentown, Sunbury, Clarks Ferry, Charleroi, Point Merion and Ellwood City.

The toll bridge bill was introduced shortly after the upper chamber convened prior to recessing for Gov. James H. Duff's budget message and holding a public hearing on bonus legislation proposing maximum $500 payments to veterans of World War II.

A tamping is a tick of southern Africa, remarkable for its very poisonous bite. David Livingston, missionary explorer, described it in his "Travels".

Engineers Will Hear Agricultural Engineer Monday

A. W. Clyde Of State College Will Also Tell Engineers How To Construct Fish Ponds

A. W. Clyde, of Penn State College, head of the Department of Agricultural Engineering, will be the speaker at Monday evening's dinner meeting of the Mahoning-Shenango Valley Engineers Society, and will present a program, which should be of unusual interest.

He will speak on the subject, "Application of machinery to agriculture", and the members will learn how agriculture is becoming a highly mechanized pursuit. In addition, he will tell society members of the proper way to build a fish pond, which should be of unusual interest.

Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock, and reservations are in the hands of Charles Goodman, of the Penn Power Company.

LEESBURG

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Geiger of Jackson Center, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sandrock and son of Oil City, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Butler and family and Mrs. John Hayne and daughter at their home Sunday, at a delicious chicken dinner in honor of their daughter, and Mr. Butler's birthday.

Severe Test Is Before Murray

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12.—(INS)—An upheaval in the mine, mill and smelter workers union presented a severe test today of CIO President Philip Murray's campaign to smash Communist elements in the CIO.

Right-wing locals, claiming to represent one-third of the union's 90,000 membership, already have seceded in protest against alleged pro-Communist control of the mine-mill organization and are demanding a thorough house-cleaning.

The issue is squarely up to Murray and two of his top anti-Communist lieutenants, Van A. Bittner and Allan Haywood. The trio conferred over three hours yesterday with mine-mill officials and will meet them again today.

On Thursday the problem may be laid in the lap of the CIO executive board at the opening of its two-day session in Washington.

PRIVATE J. F. ZAJAC GIVEN PROMOTION

Spring Cleaning Applies To Automobiles Also

This wasn't our idea originally, it was our old friend Mr. Horatius Q. McGiverly's (of the Spring Hill McGiverly's). He was talking about spring and things and stuff and he said "this thing of spring tonics for humans is a fine idea but folks don't seem to realize that a little pepping up for cars and trucks is just as good. A car or truck takes a beating in the winter. Comes the spring and it should be rejuvenated."

Sounds sensible to us. How about that car of yours chum? And we're the folks that can rejuvenate that old bus of yours.

SCRAP METAL PRICE UP

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 12.—(INS)—Cost of open hearth scrap metal in the Pittsburgh district has jumped $3 to $38 a ton, the highest since 1917 when the price soared to more than $40.

Steel producers reportedly gave in to the price increase when higher prices outside the district attracted Pittsburgh scrap to other areas.

Court Session Will Be Short

Not Likely To Run Over Into Coming Week—Several Cases Completed

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

Little probability exists of a term of criminal court next week. Of the nine cases listed for trial this week, one was continued, two pleaded to the offenses charged, two have had verdicts rendered and two were on trial Tuesday. The other two will probably finish today, and the indications are the term will not last beyond Thursday.

In the case against Wilson Pen-toney, alias Butch Petzinger, the major charge of immorality against him was cut off by a not guilty verdict. He was found guilty of larceny and solicitation.

Lester D. Goff was found guilty of practicing chiropody without a license.

In court room number one on Tuesday the case of attempted burglary charged against David F. Bullano of Youngstown and John D. Brophy of New Castle went to trial. They are accused of endeavoring to break into a building at South street and South Mill street. Judge W. Walter Braham is hearing the case.

In court room number two Judge John G. Lamoree had the case against Ralph Wilbur Yohe, Jr., a boy of 15 charged with a serious morals offense. He is the youngest defendant in a Lawrence county criminal court in some time.

DIVORCES GRANTED

Seven divorce decrees have been handed down by the two judges of Lawrence county court. Judge Braham has handed down the following: John King Brouwer is given a divorce from Geraldine Amelia Brouwer. Others are Gloria Genareo from Joseph Genareo; Naomi E. Shaffer from Kenneth L. Shaffer; Tessie Kennedy from Jesse B. Kennedy.

By Judge Lamoree: Anthony E. Isaac from Elizabeth Isaac; Joseph Joseph from Julia Assid Joseph; Corrine Meyer Sankey from Elmer Sankey.

COW LOAFING LOUNGE

NEW YORK, Mar. 12.—(INS)—A "loafing lounge" for cows today was recommended to the nation's dairy farmers.

Dr. Fred W. Graves, senior state milk sanitation director, said a cow that is allowed to loaf in a sheltered barn without having her freedom curbed produces more milk than her sister fastened to a stallion in a regular barn.

TO ASK CAA FOR BOOST IN FARES

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12.—(INS)—The Air Transport Association announced Tuesday that the nation's domestic airlines will ask civil aeronautics board to prove a 10 percent "across the board" increase in passenger fares.

The association said that exceptions to the raise would be made by those carriers whose present rates are in line with the proposed increase.

Decision to seek the 10 percent fare boost was made at a meeting of representatives of the scheduled domestic airlines in Washington yesterday.

WINS LAWSUIT BUT LOSES $7,500 SUM

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 12.—(INS)—Lela Ruth Sauder, of Cuba, found Tuesday that she had won a law suit against her foster father—and lost $7,500.

George C. Swanfield, 90-year-old retired Philadelphia barber, announced he had paid $2,500 to Miss Sauder for a disputed "board bill" during a 13-year stay in her home on the Isle of Pines, Cuba.

Swanfield added that he had also drawn a new will—eliminating a clause which would have left Miss Sauder $10,000 upon his death.

Beshore Lauds Lions For Help With Handicapped

U. S. Department Of Agriculture Official Speaks At Noon Luncheon Meeting

A. S. Beshore of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, division of production and marketing, at Harrisburg, addressed members of the New Castle Lions club at their noon luncheon meeting Tuesday.

Mr. Beshore, a speaker of more than ordinary ability, told the club that in their work among the handicapped, which is one of their major objectives, particularly in the work among the blind, they are making a contribution to society, far beyond their knowledge.

Mr. Beshore, who was stricken with infantile paralysis when a child, and who lost his parents at the age of two years, has overcome many obstacles in his lifetime, and has risen above them. For many years he served as a platform lecturer, and gave his audience the benefit of his ability to entertain by telling a number of humorous stories and anecdotes.

He stated that during the war, Americans worked together to produce the great victory which was ours, but that we must not let down now, but should work in closer harmony to make the world a better place in which to live.

Milton Pattison, insurance man, was admitted to the club as a new member.

During the past week, the club sponsored the founding of a new Lions club, known as the Little Beaver club, which includes members from Enon Valley, Darlington, and New Galilee, and which will have its first official club meeting Wednesday evening.

It was also announced that the club will sponsor another stage production, the comedy, "Dear Ruth," which was a noted New York stage hit and is now on the road.

The proceeds will be used by the club in their work among the blind, and tickets will soon be on sale by members of the club. The production will be given in the Cathedral on April 15.

Paper Issued In China Costs $200 For Each Edition

Cost Of Flour In China Reaches $68,000 For 48-Pound Sack In China National Currency

As far as China is concerned, the war is not over it is learned through a copy of the February 27, 1947 issue of the People's Herald, printed in Tsingtao, China, and just received in this city by Mrs. Myrtle Klingensmith, 707 North Mercer street. Mrs. Klingensmith received the interesting news sheet from her nephew, Lloyd Remley, musician on the U. S. S. Estes, who is stationed at the Chinese city.

Just 60 miles from Tsingtao 50,000 Reds are attacking Laiwu and Foshan with other fighters planning assaults in many other areas in order to control the country. It was interesting to note in the paper received in the city that a single issue cost $200 in Chinese National currency. Subscriptions to the paper cost $6,000 a month, $18,000 for three months and $36,000 for six months, payable in advance. Advertising was accepted at the modest sum of $2,000 per day for each column inch.

On the last page of the paper market quotations were listed. Wheat flour could be purchased for $68,000 for a 48 pound sack. Rice per catty, (1 1-3 pounds) could be bought for $1200 while kerosene sold for $370,000 per drum of 50 gallons.

Mr. Remley is a navy career man, having spent the last 20 years in the navy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mont Remley, former residents of this city but now reside in Sharon. In his letter to Mrs. Klingensmith he stated that if anyone thinks that the world is completely at peace just show them this paper.

Adequate Supply Of Onions Available

Both Eastern And Western Crops Are Now Being Marketed, D. L. Fulkman States

One reason why so many good onions are available right now is that both Eastern and Western crops are being marketed, said Dorris L. Fulkman, chairman Lawrence County Agricultural Cons. Ass'n.

The chief eastern type of late crop onion, Mr. Fulkman explained, is the Yellow Globe. This is a firm, long-keeping bulb produced in great quantities particularly in New York and Michigan. Many of these onions are marketed after the first of the year.

"Sweet Spanish onions from the west are also available in great quantities," Mr. Fulkman said. "These onions are large and mild-flavored. They were first introduced into this country from Spain about 25 years ago.

Onions in many places are selling at prices under last year's according to Mr. Fulkman. Housewives would do well to make maximum use of this abundant food, he said.

It is claimed that the average building trades worker customarily loses from a fourth to a third of his available working time during the course of a year, due to weather conditions.

Arctic Forces Fight Weather And Not Enemy

Task Force Experts Say
Little Time Would Be Available For Combat In Frigid
ZoneBy FRANCES MUSIC
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 12.—Estimates by Alaskan task force officers showed today that in event of combat in the frozen north they could spend only a small fraction of their time fighting the enemy.

The Armored Cavalry Journal, semi-official service publication, stated that "frigid" officers estimate that they spend 90 per cent of their time fighting the elements." Maj. Hal D. Steward, the publication's associate editor, interviewed 100 army officers during his recent 10,000 mile air tour of Alaska and the Aleutian Islands.

The officer, on the basis of these discussions reported: Normal body functions in the arctic are performed at risk. A deep breath during exertion or coughing may result in frostbitten bronchial tubes. Sweat may freeze.

Insulated Containers
Insulated containers to protect food from the cold should be provided. When exposed to the Arctic cold food freezes solid before a soldier can eat it.

No satisfactory method of evacuating casualties in the extreme cold area has yet been discovered. If a wounded man was allowed to lie in the Arctic cold for more than a few minutes he would in all probability freeze to death.

Work is being done, however, on an evacuation sleeping bag designed to keep a casualty warm. Electrically heated blankets also are being experimented with.

Differ On Armor
Steward said that opinions as to the practicability of armor under conditions found in the Arctic regions differed among the army officers stationed in the far north.

Some said that it is thoroughly impractical and others contended that with improvements and modifications present American tanks could be made successful in the extremely cold areas.

So many modifications are necessary on present armored vehicles that it is the belief of many officers that mechanized vehicles should be completely redesigned.

It has been discovered that equipment, especially vehicles, begin to fail at 40 degrees below zero.

Sixty degrees below zero seems to be from task force frigid tests and observations the breaking point for soldiers in standing the severe cold.

New Wilmington Kiwanis Club To Entertain Farmers

NEW WILMINGTON, Mar. 12.—"Farmers' Night," an annual affair for the Kiwanis club, will be held next Monday evening in the parlors of the Methodist church. A special program is being arranged.

A picked team from the Kiwanis will test their basketball skill against a Westminster college faculty team Thursday night in the college gym.

Roland Robinson spoke on personnel management problems in industry at Monday night's meeting. He expressed the opinion that employers should seek suggestions from employees. He also stated that industrial concerns should take every measure possible to make employees feel that they are a part of the company so that they will have pride in their work.

Guests of the evening were Allan Miller and Victor Miner.

Group singing was led by Charles Sager.

Fire Damages Carbon Plant

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Mar. 12.—A fire, on Tuesday destroyed the agricultural limestone plant of the Carbon Limestone Company at Carbon, Pa., near Hillsville, and caused a $50,000 loss.

Lowellville firemen helped the Carbon company fire fighters battle the blaze. Charles Coburn, company vice president, said the building was badly damaged and machinery, including several high-powered electric motors, was ruined. Coburn estimated the loss at $50,000 and said the plant would be rebuilt whenever materials are available. The fire did not affect other operations, Coburn said.

The first railway was a product of British coal mines when, in the early part of the 18th century wooden rails were laid out at the collieries of Newcastle-on-Tyne. It was the custom of certain tribes of Indians, after a bridge had been built over a canyon, to test its strength first by sending a party of squaws across. The average wage rate paid to hired U. S. farm workers in 1946 was $1.50 per month compared with $84 during a comparable period in 1945. Since 1789, the United States House of Representatives has grown from 65 to 435 members. The senate has grown from 26 to 96 members.

Post Plans For Annual Banquet

Clyde D. Badger And Ches C. Sweesy Head National Commander's Dinner Committee

Looking forward to the annual district banquet for National Commander Paul H. Griffith of Uniontown, which will take place in the Cathedral on Monday evening, April 21, Commander E. Gene Schweinsberg of the Perry S. Gaston Post last night named Clyde D. Badger and Ches C. Sweesy as co-chairmen of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the event.

At the same time, membership chairman Joseph Solomon announced plans for an intensive membership drive, which aims to bring Gaston post up to its quota, and the campaign got under way with a bang last night when a number of new members were received.

Following the business meeting, M-Sgt. Charles P. Walsh, U. S. Army recruiter, and Sgt. Lawrence H. Elder and Cpl. Robert H. Ashton of the U. S. Marine recruiting forces here, presented several interesting films to the members.

Boy Scouts, Families Have Social Evening In Dining Room Of Third U. P. Church

Boy Scouts of Troop 25, with their friends and families as guests, enjoyed a tureen dinner and social evening Tuesday in the dining room of the Third U. P. church.

The dinner was sponsored by the W. W. M. G. class of the church and the troop committee composed of Plummer D. Gibson, Clayton Bryan and William Morgan.

Following the dinner, which was served by the committee members, the scouts and their guests were treated to movies of the canoe trip through Canada, held last summer. Some of the troop 25 scouts were on the summer excursion. These films were shown by John Cornelius.

Ernest Hawk, council commissioner, spoke to the boys about summer camp plans at the county site and movies of activities there were shown by Albert Ramsey.

Scoutmaster Clarence McHattie, P. D. Gibson, J. Paul Graham, and master of the troop, spoke briefly on the program.

DRASTIC CHANGE IN U. S. POLICY IS SEEN IN REQUEST

An independent and economically sound state is "no less important to the freedom-loving peoples of the world than the future of Greece."

Mr. Truman asserted that preservation of Turkey's integrity is "essential to the preservation of order in the Middle East."

The chief executive warned: "Should we fail to aid Greece and Turkey in this fateful hour, the effect will be far-reaching to the west as well as to the east."

"We must take immediate and resolute action."

The president declared that Communism, by seeking to impose totalitarian regimes upon free peoples, undermines "the foundations of international peace, and hence the security of the United States."

May Endanger World Peace
Mr. Truman solemnly warned that the gravity situation in the eastern Mediterranean is such that unless the United States takes positive and resolute steps the peace of the world may be endangered.

The president bluntly stated: "The free peoples of the world look to us for support in maintaining their freedoms."

"If we falter in our leadership, we may endanger the peace of the world—and we shall surely endanger the welfare of our own nation."

The president frankly told congress that "this is a serious course upon which we embark." He said: "I would not recommend it except that the alternative is much more serious."

Requests Made
The chief executive asked congress for:

1. A sum of 400 million dollars for assistance to Greece and Turkey for the period ending June 30, 1948.
2. Authorization to send American civilian and military personnel to Greece and Turkey, at the request of those governments. This would be done "to assist in the tasks of reconstruction and for the purpose of supervising the use of such financial and material assistance as may be furnished," as well as for instruction and training "of selected Greek and Turkish personnel."
3. Authority for the "speediest and most effective use" of commodities, supplies and equipment for Greece and Turkey.

White House Secretary Charles G. Ross said that of the 400 million dollars, Greece is to be allotted 250 millions and Turkey 150 millions.

The president said that, in view of the critical nature of the situation, if further funds should be needed for Greece and Turkey to support them as Democratic bulwarks against the spread of Communism "I shall not hesitate to bring the situation before the congress."

Mr. Truman grimly told the assembled legislators:

Broad Implications
"I am fully aware of the broad implications involved if the United States extends assistance to Greece and Turkey, and I shall discuss these implications with you at this time."

The president said that today nations "must choose between alternative ways of life."

He declared:

"The choice is too often not a free one."

"One way of life is based upon the will of the majority, and is distinguished by free institutions, representative government, free elections, guarantees of individual liberty, freedom of speech and religion, and freedom from political oppression."

"The second way of life is based upon the will of a minority forcibly imposed upon the majority. It relies upon terror and oppression, a controlled press and radio, fixed elections, and the suppression of personal freedoms."

"I believe that it must be the policy of the United States to support free peoples who are resisting attempted subjugation by armed minorities or by outside pressure."

"I believe that we must assist free peoples to work out their own destinies in their own way."

The peep show of the 18th century was a box, often small enough to be carried on the itinerant operator's back, in which were placed poorly executed and crudely hand-colored engravings reflected in a mirror and seen through a glass in front of the box. Pictures and titles on them were engraved in reverse so as to come out right in the mirror.

Morgan Beatty

Known the world over for his knowledge of international affairs and his intelligent presentation of them, Morgan Beatty comes to New Castle Saturday night, March 29, to be the principal speaker at the annual dinner of the Lawrence County Chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association in the Cathedral. He attended the Potsdam conference, was in the European Theatre of War for many months and is in close touch with the Moscow conference. He gives you an intimate peek at the international picture.

For entertainment, five acts of top flight vaudeville and radio entertainment. Tickets may be purchased from members, or from Cunningham and Weininger's or McGrath's Flower Shop. Priced at $3.50.

Should Outlaw Communist Party In United States

Such Is Statement Of Secretary Of Labor Schwelienbach To Congress Tuesday

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(INS)—Secretary of Labor Schwelienbach told congress Tuesday that the Communist party in the United States should be outlawed.

Schwelienbach, testifying before the house labor committee, said that it would be "very difficult" to impose restrictions to eliminate Communists from American labor unions.

He said: "If I can see any reason why we should recognize the Communist party in the United States. On the other hand, I can't see any reason why we should pick out labor unions and say 'you can't have Communists' when they can be elected to congress."

The secretary said that "theoretically" he believes Communists should be expelled from labor unions. But, he cited the difficulties in determining whether an individual has Communist leanings.

Schwelienbach declared: "It's almost impossible to reach a conclusion about whether a man is a Communist."

Endorses Move To Outlaw Party Of Communists

WASHINGTON, Mar. 12.—(INS)—Chairman Thomas (R) N. J. of the House Un-American Activities committee, today endorsed Secretary of Labor Schwelienbach's recommendation that the Communist party be outlawed in the United States.

Thomas, whose committee probably would consider any legislation banning the party, said that several members of Congress have suggested such action.

He explained that his committee has "even gone so far as to talk about preparing a bill to outlaw the Communists" in the United States.

Rep. Hartley (R) N. J., chairman of the House Labor committee, has promised to introduce a measure outlawing the party "as fast as I can get around to it."

Thomas declared that Hartley could count on the committee on un-American activities "for our backing" of legislation he may submit to ban the Communist party.

The drive for legislation to outlaw the party was touched off by Schwelienbach, who advocated before the labor committee that such action should be taken.

Religious Books For Lenten Season At Public Library

A stimulating list of new books for reading during the Lenten season has been prepared by Miss Alice Sterling, chief librarian of the Public Library. All the books can be borrowed for the asking at the library.

Human Destiny, by Leonate du Nouy, and "Make Your Life Worthwhile," by Emmet Fox, are among the latest additions to the library's religious book section. "The Rediscovery of Morals," by Henry C. Link, and "They Have Found a Faith," by Marcus Bach, also were published within the last few months.

Listed also are: "How to Read the Bible," by Edgar S. Goodspeed; "The Practice of Religion," by Frederick C. Grant; "Truth Men Live By," by John A. O'Brien; "Peace of Mind," by Joshua Lott Lichman; "Mystic in Modern," and "Too Small a World: The Life of Francesca Cabrini," both by Theodore Maynard; "Roses for Mexico," by Ethel Cook Elliott; "The Great Divorce," by C. S. Lewis; "How You Can Help Other People," by Samuel M. Shoemaker; "On Being Fit to Live With," by Harry Emerson Fosdick; "Therefore, Stand," by Wilbur M. Smith; "Pathfinders of the World Missionary Crusade," by Sherwood Eddy; "Love One Another," by Fulton J. Sheen; and the new "Revised Standard Version" of the New Testament.

Refer Ordinance To City Planners

Council has referred to the City Planning commission a bill introduced in council which would amend the zoning law by changing from a secondary business and C residential section, to a light industrial zone, a section in Pearson street district.

The district affected is bounded by Pearson, at Taylor street east to Fairview avenue, on the south by Division street and west by Pearson street, and Pearson north to Taylor street.

OPPOSE LICENSE BOOST

ALTOONA, Pa., March 12.—(INS)—The Blair county Game, Fish and Forestry association today was on record opposing proposed legislation boosting the cost of hunting and fishing licenses in Pennsylvania.

Past President William Templeton pointed out that 65 cents of each license cost goes into a fund for the purchase of new game land. He declared that the state should use the money to rehabilitate more than three million acres of run-down game land instead of purchasing new tracts.

Highways Slice Quarter Billion In Budget Plans

HARRISBURG, March 12.—(INS)—Highway department plans to spend a quarter-billion dollars during the 1947-49 biennium were reported Tuesday by Gov. James H. Duff in his budget message.

Estimated expenditures for the next two years by the department were: construction, $141,400,000; resurfacing, $20,000,000; overhead on engineering equipment, $36,600,000; maintenance, $52,000.

During the 1945-47 biennium ending May 31, the governor added, department expenditures were pegged at $118,000,000.

Expenditures during the current biennium, he said, were construction, $40,900,000; resurfacing, $8,300,000; overhead on engineering equipment, $23,000,000; maintenance, $45,800,000.

The increases in overhead and maintenance, he explained, were prompted by higher prices.

YWCA Membership Reports After Bible Class On Thursday

Y. W. C. A. membership workers will meet Thursday morning, March 13, at 11:30 a. m. following the Lenten Bible class to give their reports of their first week work.

From the inklings which have drifted back to the Y. W. C. A. office, membership workers have lost no time in following up their reports and also enlisting other women of their churches and clubs as Y. W. C. A. members.

Team workers are also following the suggestion of trying to recruit program volunteers and committee workers from their membership prospects.

Sandwiches, tea and coffee will be served.

RICKETS AND BONES

Nowadays rickets is not as common as it was in years gone by.

It is a condition in which the bones are affected. They become mis-shapen or crooked or bent.

It is usually due to faulty diet and insufficient sunshine. Babies and children should be in the open air as much as possible. The beneficial sunshine does not go through window glass.

Noon time is best for getting the ultra violet rays. Babies and children seem to get better food and better care than they did years ago. We have better doctors too.

Children should get plenty of milk. Eggs help the good work along. Bones and teeth are important parts of the body.

The proper kind of food and lots of sunshine help to make them right and keep them right.

Fireman Hurt In Fall From Ladder At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, March 12.—(INS)—A fireman was hospitalized today after he fell from a ladder last night while testing walls of the gutted Shippers Package Co., destroyed yesterday in a spectacular five-alarm blaze.

Hoseman Thomas O'Connor, 51, sustained internal injuries when he fell 20 feet from the ladder, police said.

Firemen battled for nine hours to extinguish the blaze fed by cardboard and wood egg crates stored in the building. Damage was estimated at $35,000. No cause was determined.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Urge Selection Of Philadelphia As Convention Site

HARRISBURG, Mar. 12.—(INS)—A campaign to switch the 1948 National convention of the Republican party from Chicago to Philadelphia was accelerated today by the GOP-Dominated General Assembly.

A concurrent resolution adopted by the House and Senate, with Democrats agreeing with the majority, drew Gov. James H. Duff's approval.

"The fact that the site committee of the Republican National committee has recommended Chicago as the place to hold the party's National convention should not discourage Philadelphia from continuing to advance its plans that Philadelphia is the best place to hold the 1948 party," the governor declared.

"After all the entire membership of the Republican National committee must approve the convention site and certainly Philadelphia has no cause to give up hope until that final division is made," he asserted.

Americans killed in World War II action averaged 24.3 years old.

HORSES DISAPPEARING

TRENTON, N. J., Mar. 12.—(INS)—The State Department of Agriculture today reported that horses are fast disappearing from New Jersey farms.

The department reported that in January only 18,000 horses remained on New Jersey farms compared to 95,000 head in 1904. Mules number about 2,000 in New Jersey, the department added.

Strong demand for horse meat and large exports of the animals for U. N. R. R. agricultural programs abroad helped reduce the equine population in New Jersey.

Mexico, with an area of 758,258 square miles, is the third largest country of Latin America.

Ellwood High Reveals Grid Card For 1947

Wolverines Schedule Nine
Night Battles; Sharon,
Kittanning New Opponents

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 12.—Ellwood City high school, through its grid coach, Thurman "Dutch" Croft, has released its 1947 football schedule which lists nine class AA games, all of them are night battles, with five to be played on the home turf. Seven opponents met last season will be back this year, with Sharon and Kittanning listed as newcomers to the slate. These two schools will replace Midland and Greenville, September 5 and Armistice Day are still open and Coach Croft intimates that these dates will be filled before autumn rolls around.

List Home Frays
The Wolverines will open their season at home against Brownsville, September 12, and other tilts to be played at Lincoln field include Farrell, Clairton, Kittanning and Beaver Falls.

Last year the Croft eleven won five and lost four, taking victories from Farrell, Clairton, Greenville, Midland and Ambridge, the latter a stunning upset in WPAL circles. Rochester, Brownsville, Aliquippa and Beaver Falls topped the "Wolves".

The 1947 schedule:
Sept. 12—Brownsville, here.
Sept. 19—Rochester, away.
Sept. 26—Farrell, here.
Oct. 3—Sharon, away.
Oct. 10—Clairton, here.
Oct. 17—Aliquippa, away.
Oct. 24—Kittanning, here.
Oct. 31—Beaver Falls, here.
Nov. 7—Ambridge, away.

Teams of Pulaski, Nashua, East Brook, Hickory Heights, New Bedford, and Marienburg are asked to send representatives to the meeting which will begin at 7:30 p. m.

Any other teams, desiring entry into the league, are requested to send delegates to the gathering.

It is planned to launch the league schedule the first week in May.

Manuel Ortiz

Regains Title

Ortiz Wins Close Decision

Over Dade, Winning

Back Bantamweight

Crown

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 12.—(INS)—Manuel Ortiz declared today after regaining his world bantamweight championship from Harold Dade that he planned to quit the ring following two more bouts. He said:

"I intend to fight one over the weight bout. After that I'll put my title up once again and then I'll hang up the gloves for good."

Ortiz won back his crown by out-pointing Dade in a slashing 15-round battle last night before a howling packed house at Olympic Stadium.

Close Decision

The 30-year-old champion barely won the decision over Dade, 23, who lifted the title from the El Centro, Cal., veteran two months ago in San Francisco.

The match was witnessed by a sellout crowd of 10,400 who contributed to a record net gate of more than $48,000.

Ortiz' decision over Dade was close. Two judges gave the El Centro, Cal., stylist 83 points to Dade's 81 for the 15 round course. The referee awarded the ex-champ 83½ and the defender 80½.

Rikard Stars As

Pittsburgh Wins

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Mar. 12.—(INS)—Pittsburgh's rookie centerfielder, Culey Rikard, emerged with flying colors today from the Pirates' 6-2 win over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Rikard smacked three hits, including two luscious doubles, to lead the Pirates' attack. Hank Greenberg fanned, walked and got a single on a weird hopper.

Local U. E. Team Beats Pittsburgh

United Engineering and Foundry association team looked impressive in the first three games of a final championship, six game ten-pin match against a not too strong Pittsburgh City Office team at the Castle alleys. George Shook and Nick Cavalier were the outstanding bowlers for the winners while E. Holt was best for the losers. New Castle will travel to Pittsburgh, March 12, to bowl the three remaining games. The summary:

BALTIMORE, Mar. 12.—(INS)—Joe DiMaggio, star Yankee outfielder, underwent an operation at John Hopkins Tuesday for the graft of skin to his left heel which failed to respond properly after the removal of a bone "spur".

According to speculation among the players it was learned that Frank McKinney, Pittsburgh potentate, in a recent talk with Branch Rickey offered first sacker Elbie Fletcher plus three unspecified players for Higbe.

U.S. May Be Given 23 Strategic Bases In The Philippines

By F. V. TUTAY
(L. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MIAMI, Mar. 12.—A high official source disclosed that the United States will be given 23 military, naval and air bases in the Philippines under an agreement between the two governments.

The agreement is expected to be signed at the end of this week, possibly on Friday, when retiring American Ambassador Paul V. McNutt will be honored by President Manuel Roxas at a formal presidential palace reception.

This same source told International News Service that McNutt and his family will leave Manila Saturday to return to the United States by way of Europe. Successful negotiation of the military base agreement has been McNutt's primary aim in the Philippines.

This informant added that the base agreement is now completed and awaits only signatures of the representatives of the two nations.

The pact is considered in official circles a distinct triumph for Philippine negotiators as the American negotiators originally requested over 70 base sites to be used for defensive purposes.

American negotiators were said to have gone "a long way" to meet the objections of Philippine officials to handing over the large number of requested sites.

Bases to be established under the pact will be classed as "A" and "B" installations, with the first classification pertaining to permanent bases and the second to emergency installations.

Of the 23 bases to be given the Americans, 16 are permanent and seven are emergency installations.

Permanent bases to be turned over to the United States under the pact include Clark field in central Luzon, Stotsenberg, Mariveles, Leyte, Samar, Camp John Hay, Subic, Tawitawi, Sangley Point, Naule Point, Palawan, Catiljejos and Zamboanga.

It is noteworthy that Fort William McKinley, Corregidor and Nichols field, which are among the oldest American military bases in the Philippines, are not included among the agreed bases.

The permanent and emergency bases are strung out strategically throughout the entire Philippine archipelago. They stretch from Laoag airbase in the north of Tawitawi in the south, Samar to the east and Palawan on the west and bordering the China sea.

Two points which hung fire throughout most of the negotiations were the questions of a base site in Baguio in northern Luzon and the matter of jurisdiction over the bases. This source said both points were won by American negotiators.

The U. S. will have a base at Camp John Hay in Baguio although a request for a naval reservation at the same place was finally withdrawn by the Americans.

The ticklish matter of jurisdiction was finally resolved with Philippine officials acceding to American demands under the finished pact, the Philippines government consents to U. S. jurisdiction in these cases:

1. When the offender is a member of the American armed forces and the crime is committed inside the military reservation.
2. When the offender and offender are both members of American armed forces even though the crime was committed outside a military area.
3. When the crime involves military security—espionage, treason, etc.

STORY WITH NO END...

The Red Cross always ready to serve; on they march, lines of veterans requiring the assistance of trained workers. Hundreds of boys still over seas needing the Red Cross as a friend. Recreation workers encourage the hospitalized men.

Striking disaster at home by fire, hurricane, tornado, earthquake, explosion, epidemic or flood follows through from on-the-spot aid to all forms of rehabilitation.

That is the brief outline of what the Red Cross stands ready to do for you. That is why your Red Cross needs your support as a friend and neighbor... and possibly some day a beneficiary of its great program of mercy and service.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, March 12.—(INS)—Fred MacMurray is planning a nice, long vacation—the whole fall, to be exact.

"I want to do a lot of hunting and fishing," Fred said, "That's the life."

Fred has been working the past couple of weeks in "Singapore" for Universal-International. As soon as he completed that he reports to Jesse Lasky for "The Miracle of the Bells" to be made from the most loving book this reporter has read in many a day.

"That will make my two pictures for the year and that's enough," Fred said.

He admitted very frankly he likes free-lancing after doing four pictures a year for Paramount under a seven-year contract.

"That's a lot of pictures," he said, "When you select your own roles you may make a mistake and pick a lemon, but, at least, you have no one to blame except yourself."

Fred seems to be picking some mighty good ones for himself. "The Egg and I," as one potent example.

Andy Russell's bull mastiff, Uncle Arthur, is really in the doghouse. It might be pointed out that Andy's pet weighs 185 pounds and looks more like a pony than a dog.

It all happened because Andy, who actually got his start as a drummer with several name bands, still has a set of the "skins" he pounded for Gus Arnheim.

But, let the singer tell it: "I was having a session all by myself the other night, playing the drums along with the radio, when my wife, Ella, came in from the patio, Uncle Arthur managed to slip in, too."

"I guess the big mutt thought I wanted to romp. Anyhow, he came bounding across the room, made a playful pass at me and punched one of those big paws through the snare drum.

"I lost one of my 'hides' and if Uncle Arthur wasn't such a sad-eyed character anyhow, I probably would have tanned a little of his."

Michael North probably is Hollywood's happiest young actor. Mike Curtiz is giving him his first big break in "The Unsuspected" at Warners.

"No one has ever been given a greater opportunity than I am being given now," said the young man. He comes of a famous mid-west theatrical family and was a naval officer during the war.

"I really mean every word I said," he continued. "I wouldn't change places with Peter Lawford or any of the others who are already well established."

Interest Keen In Third U. P. Contest

Interest Continues To Grow In Pre-Easter Attendance Contest At Third Church

Interest is keen at the Third United Presbyterian Bible school as the pre-Easter contest starts on the second part, last Sunday marking the half-way point. Plans are even now being made by some of the groups as to the type of entertainment the losers will offer the winners. It has been hinted that special transportation committees have been formed in order to be sure of even higher percentages.

The results of last Sunday's attendance is shown in the following percentage chart as well as the averages for the four week's effort, giving the class or department, March 9 percent and average percent.

Beginners Department, 44.0, 46.3.
Primary department, 73.8, 71.5.
Junior department, 79.2, 75.3.
Intermediate-Junior Young People, 62.6, 64.3.

Senior Young People, 67.3, 61.0.
Adult department, 62.0, 62.6.
Y. L. B. class, 61.0, 62.0.
Men's Bible class, 49.5, 52.6.
W. M. G. class, 119.0, 104.7.
Open Door class, 110.0, 105.0.
Loyal Band class, 72.0, 79.0.
Truth Seekers, 94.0, 78.9.
Queen Esther class, 75.0, 80.1.
S. B. Cope land class, 78.0, 70.8.
M. Hamilton class, 100.0, 91.1.
True Blue class, 129.6, 106.4.
Women's Bible class, 75.0, 69.0.
A. J. Minick's class, 50.0, 40.2.

Teacher Training class, 75.0, 66.6.
Teachers and Officers, 83.0, 86.4.
The total number in the school was 513 with 79.1 percent remaining for the church service. More than 60 children were in the Junior church group. Fine programs have been planned for the Junior church services for the balance of the contest period. These include special music, flannel-graphs, illustrated talks and sacred moving pictures.

Mrs. William Schoenfeld's class of girls is still in the lead in the Intermediate department; the boys are still proving to be better sailors than the girls in the Junior department. Great Lakes cruise, and Mrs. Thomas Coultas class of boys is ahead once more in the cross-country airplane race.
